Dear Mr. Benito Herrero:

Congratulations! We are pleased to inform you that your application for Certified Measurement & Verification Professional (CMVP) has been approved by the Certification Board. Your certificate is enclosed.

The continuing education of a measurement and verification professional is essential in order to cope with rapidly changing conditions. Therefore, to remain certified you must accumulate ten (10) professional credits every three (3) years. A renewal form will be mailed when your recertification is due. Enclosed is information on areas where credits may be obtained.

Your interest in certification reflects your pursuit of professionalism, and achieving CMVP recognition demonstrates your knowledge and ethical fitness for measurement and verification. On behalf of the Efficiency Valuation Organization and the Association of Energy Engineers, I would like to offer our congratulations once again. Welcome to the CMVP program!

Cordially,

Michelle Zakin

*CMVP –Certified Measurement and Verification Professional

CONTINUING PROFESSIONAL COMPETENCY CRITERIA FOR CERTIFICATION LICENSES AND COURSE PROVIDERS

Each certified professional is required to obtain a total of 10 renewal credits each three-year renewal period. One (1) CEU is the equivalent of two (2) renewal credits.

Activities Applicable as Credits for Certification Renewal:

Continued employment in energy management / energy engineering activities	1 credit per year (3 max)
Membership in a professional engineering society	1 credit per year (3 max)
*Continuing education: energy-related seminars and college courses (includes in-house or online seminars)	2 credits per: - CEU earned (e.g., 1.6 CEU=3.2 credits) - College credit hour earned - 10 PDH
Professional awards or papers presented and published re: energy engineering/management	2 credits each
Offices held in a professional engineering society	1 credit per year

*The AEE Certification board will not pre-approve courses or course providers. It is requested that course providers present certified licensees with the above information needed for documentation as proof of continuing education. The decision of what course or activity is used for credit is up to the judgment of the licensee. Continuing education which enhances the professional attribute of the licensee and is beneficial in an area of practice will be considered by the Board for those who are audited. If chosen for audit in a random selection, the licensee will be expected to provide proof of documentation for the CEUs claimed. Relevant courses presented by an accredited university or college or nonprofit organization are generally accepted for credit.

Certified Professionals are required to demonstrate a development of Continuing Professional Competency (CPC) as a condition for certification renewal. The CPC requirements will be satisfied when course providers conduct courses which will enhance and improve a professional's skills in the area certified.
